

In New South Wales, we currently have over 40 new bricklaying apprenticeship vacancies in areas such as Western Sydney, Blue Mountains, and Central & Northern Sydney that need to be filled ASAP.

You can view our Jobs Board for listings all across NSW.

We are currently seeking candidates to fill vacancies and we encourage you to get in touch with us if you are seeking a work trial, with a view to commencing apprenticeship.

Bricklaying apprenticeships are ideal for anyone looking for a career in the building and construction industry. It provides a hands-on learning environment with consistently challenging projects demanding versatility and skills development.

Please note - Candidates require at least a Learner Permit and a White Card. This will increase their chances of getting an apprenticeship.

- Licence - Bricklaying is a highly mobile trade and as such it will be highly advantageous of any applicants that hold a current DL / L Plate.
- White Card - They're compulsory for anyone working on a construction site in Australia.

At Australian Brick & Blocklaying Training Foundation (ABBTF) our mission is to ensure Australia maintains a strong supply of quality bricklayers and your contribution is uniquely valuable in achieving it.

